Southeastern U.S.

February 12-14, 2025

REQUEST FOR SPONSORS

Dear Friends and Colleagues:

The 30th Meeting of the Southeastern Bat Diversity Network and the 35th Annual Colloquium on the Conservation of Mammals in the Southeastern United States will be held February 12-14, 2025 in Lexington, Kentucky! Attendees will include students, academics, consultants, agency personnel, non-governmental organizations, and other individuals researching and managing bats and other mammals throughout the southeastern United States.

This meeting serves as one of the primary mechanisms for communication of research, regulatory updates, and management information related to the conservation of bats and other mammals in the southeast. This will be a great opportunity to interact with researchers, consultants, agency personnel, students, and staff of non-governmental organizations who work on important conservation priorities for mammals in our region.

We are seeking sponsorship at a variety of financial levels as detailed on the following sponsor registration form. All sponsors are also given the opportunity to exhibit, if desired. However, sponsorship is not associated with workshops. We would like to invite your organization to consider serving as a meeting sponsor.

Please contact Host Committee member Megan Wallrichs (mwallrichs@envsi.com) if you have any questions related to sponsorships.

We are excited to celebrate and collaborate with you during this 30th and 35th meeting!

Sincerely,

2025 Meeting Host Committee:

Luke Dodd – Luke.Dodd@eku.edu

Piper Roby – plroby@copperheadconsulting.com
